Dinan from the Ramparts. This is one of the finest views obtainable of the beautiful town of Dinan. Situated on a hill overlooking the valley of the Rance, it is annually the centre for thousands of tourists in this — the most charming part of the province. The road crosses the valley and river by means of a viaduc which was begun by Louis Phillipe, but owing to lack of funds was not completed until 1852.

Dear Miss Rawlin. Thank so much for card. I was delighted to hear you liked Darlington. Black Horse is so busy. I am sorry they are at the Newcastle. I to your mother. I do hope she is better & has got home reconciled to your being so far away. She is now having a holiday so of course she will be going home.
Kind love from I & all I think you are quite well at the moment.

Launches are one of the finest ways of water travel, invented I think. Toronto Bay & Huron River are generally.
